THE JOURNEY OF A STUDENT

In halls of learning, dreams take flight
Through morning's down and quiet night
With open book and eager hearts.
Each lesson become new arts, learned
A student's road is never plain
If winds through joy it winds through strain
Mistakes may come, and doubts may stay
But courage lights the darkest way

Each challenge faced, each step we climb
Turns moments small to pear's at time
With patience, hope and hands that try
We reach beyond the strarring Sky.

For knowledge is a precious key
That opens doors for all to see
And every mind that dares to learn
Will find the dreams for which the years

So rise, young hearts, embrace your quest
Give every day your very best
For student dream are bright and true
The future units to shine in you
